Randy Boring is an IT developer who has spent the last 16 years at Crane Group. Through Crane, he volunteers with Besa Columbus, an organization that coordinates community-wide service projects. He also serves on the race committee for the American Cancer Society's C2C (Cincinnati to Columbus) Relay Run, an event that supports cancer patients and research.

Randy has been running for 12 years and got involved with the Team when he saw it participating in area races.

He lives in Columbus with his wife Pat and has two children, four grandchildren, and five cats! He enjoys listening to music, watching soccer, and reading non-fiction - especially music, history and politics.
